TOWN COUNCIL NEWS

LAC LA BICHE—Town council met July 8 with Councillor McMillan the only member absent.

Father McGrane interviewed council on behalf of the Sea Cadets committee, asking if the town would consider giving a lot to the Sea Cadets so that a building might be moved to the site and a suitable permanent headquarters be established for the Cadets. The suggestion was favorably received by the council, and the secretary was instructed to inform the Cadets committee of what lots were available.

The cemetery caretaker made a complaint that the need had arisen for a schedule of regulations regarding fences and improvements to graves within the cemetery. He stressed that unless some provision is made very soon, the varying height and colors of fences being built will bring about an irregular and undesirable pattern which should be guarded against. It was agreed that the caretaker should meet with the cemetery committee as soon as possible and draw up a set of regulations to control this problem.

The need of a sidewalk on lake promenade was discussed, and it was decided that a four-foot gravel base already prepared along Block 30, should be completed at once, as by another year the forms would be warped out of shape and some waste would result.

The secretary was asked to advertise for tenders for the heating system for the Memorial hall.

Considerable discussion took place on matters relating to the Memorial hall, particularly with regard to the purchases of a number of necessary items required for operation and maintenance. It was decided that councillors James Hamar and Mike Maccagno should be given authority to manage the hall thus taking the burden off the council as a whole.

Mannville Lawyer Addresses Tories

On the evening of July 11, a meeting of the Provincial Conservative Association of Lac la Biche Constituency was held in the community hall. The group assembled was representative of the constituency.

J. I. Jones, a lawyer for 40 years in Mannville, was the first speaker. He stated that the present Social Credit government had forgotten the common man, and by their actions appeared to be the slaves of "Big Business".

He dealt with the farming and educational problems of the province of Alberta and stated that Prime Minister Diefenbaker had given a great deal for farmers and small businesses and would do a great deal more as he has promised.

Allan Cook, a young Edmonton lawyer, spoke most enthusiastically on behalf of Al Lazerte, candidate for the leadership of the Conservative party in Alberta. He stated that Mr. Lazerte is a man of unquestioned integrity and is sincerely determined, if elected, to work for the farmer and small businessman. Mr. Cook stressed that the Conservative policy of John Diefenbaker must be the basis of the policy of the Conservative party in Alberta.

Both addresses were enthusiastically received by those present. The following delegates were elected to attend the leadership convention in Edmonton, Aug. 15-16. John Brady, W. Dorkash, E. Jackson, D. Stewart, J. Sunderman, Mrs. H. Mawson. Alternates elected were: Mr. Meardi, Sr., W. Austin, Mrs. Brockbank, Mr. Biolli.

A well-attended dance followed with the music of L. Turgeon and his Normandleau Ramblers. This is the first dance of many to be sponsored by the Provincial Conservative Association of Lac la Biche constituency.

Plan 700 New Homes At St. Albert

4 Self-Contained Neighborhoods Set In Lovely Sturgeon Valley

The turning point in the history of St. Albert came when it was declared a town and the sum of $1,000,000 was received from the provincial government for its much-needed utility system.

This has paved the way for residential development on a scale which owing to the serious burden of taxation would otherwise have been impossible.

The work of subdividing 700 lots in the the satellite town, less than 15 minutes drive from Edmonton, has already begun.

Included in the model town will be four residential neighborhoods, each with its own schools, churches, shopping centre and parks, a 320-acre industrial subdivision on the eastern outskirts of the town bordering the Northern Alberta Railway tracks and a completely new civic centre comprising a library, town hall, fire hall and auditorium.

HOMES ON CRESCENTS

The residential areas will not have through roads. All the homes will be placed on 'U"-shaped crescents. There will be no alleyways, and all utilities services, will enter the residences underground.

St. Albert will be linked with Edmonton by three main routes: a northward extension of 170 St. in Jasper Place to the town, the existing St. Albert Trail which is part of Highway 2, or by way of the Namao Road. The main thoroughfare is expected to be the proposed 170 St. route. Edmonton traffic would flow west on 111 Ave. to join 170 St. approximately two blocks from where 11 Ave. angles south to join the Jasper Highway.

A traffic circle is proposed at this curve, and a paved extension to 170 St. The new highway from 170 St. would continue to the St. Albert town limits. It would be a paved highway for fast traffic with limited access.

$1,000,000 LOAN

The provincial government has lent the town an initial $1,000,000 for capital work to provide the necessary water and sewage facilities. A water line from the City of Edmonton and a large reservoir east of the highway have been constructed, capable of supplying 12,000 persons. Sewage facilities have been installed to accommodate 20,000 persons. The old section of the town is now fully serviced with these utilities.

The director of the Edmonton and District Planning Commision, Frank Marlyn, says the townsite is one of the best locations in the entire district, featuring many beautiful vantage points on which to build homes." He stated that the planning commission has prepared the blueprints for the development in an effort to de-centralize the population and industries of Edmonton. With both residential and industrial land becoming scarce the city is now "practically full," and a concerted effort is being made to ease congestion through such satellite town developments as St. Albert.

UNIT NO. ONE

The first of the four neighborhoods is now being prepared in order to begin construction as soon as possible. This area will accommodate approximately 200 single and multiple-family dwellings. Some homes will be built by contractors under the National Housing Act, others privately, said Mr. Marlyn.

INDIAN SENATOR'S BROTHER DIES

PINCHER CREEK — George Gladstone, 78, brother of Canada's first Indian senator, James Gladstone, died recently.

Born in the Pincher Creek district, George Gladstone worked on the construction of the CPR in the early 1890's. In recent years he has been employed by the town of Pincher Creek.

The danger in ignorance is that so many people have it without the least suspecting it.

Satellite Town Planned For Ultimate 30,000 Population

The space age has happily hit town planning The first satellite town in western Canada, planned for an ultimate population of 30,000 is to be located in the new town of St. Albert.

Approved and endorsed by the Provincial Planning Advisory Board, the Board of Public Utility Commissioners of Alberta, the new housing project will be effectively separated from the City of Edmonton by a green belt of open countryside. The satellite town of St. Albert will continue to be a self-contained community within a few minutes' drive of the city.

Seven hundred lots will be made available. The project will offer modern shopping area, three church sites, schools and parks (28 acres set aside), town hall, public library, clinics and other public services.

Two hundred and twenty residential lots, fully serviced, with paved streets, sidewalks, tot lots, city water, complete storm sewer and sanitary sewer, will be included in the first stage of the development.

Neighborhood unit No. 1 is beautifully situated southwest of the present townsite on a broad plateau overlooking the rich green parkland and intimate valley of Sturgeon River.

Product of five years of research conducted by L. Gertler, M.A. (Econ.), AMTPIC, present director of current development, city of Toronto, the model residential community was designed by Frank Marlyn, B.Arch., AMTPIC, director of Edmonton District Planning Commission, and D. L. Makale, AMTPIC, town planning consultant.

Italy Wheat Output Will Fill '59 Needs

Italy is expected to be self-sufficient again for wheat this year despite reduced acreage, agricultural sources claim here.

The sources said they anticipated a harvest of 85 to 90 million quintals provided weather remains favorable. This, coupled with existing stocks of about 20 million quintals, would be more than sufficient to cover the domestic demand, although some soft wheat will have to be traded for foreign hard wheat.

Hard wheat, needed for making pasta, still makes up an insufficient proportion of Italian production. The government is encouraging farmers in the South to replace soft wheat with the hard variety.

HOME ECONOMISC COURSE AT AGRICULTURAL SCHOOLS

For those girls who are contemplating School of Agriculture courses in home economics there is a change in the course There is now a very extensive course offered. It has been changed from the one year to a two year course. The old two-in-one course is still available, however, for those students with 70 credits and a B standing in High School.

Also changed is the number of elective high school credits obtainable. It is now set at 20 for the first year of the two year course, 23 for the second year of it and 22 credits available for the two-in-one course.

These changes have been made because it is felt that due to the importance of the course more than one year is required to gain full benefit from it.

There are a number of scholarships available to farm boys and girls who plan to attend these schools. The scholarships vary in value from $75 to $135. Applications for these are available at my office. Further information regarding the courses offered and other phases of school life are also available here.

POINTERS ON BUYING YOUR FREEZER

Whether you buy a freezer should be determined by savings in food costs, saving in time and energy and the amount of added enjoyment gained by the family from more appetizing food.

There are some very pertinent questions you can ask yourself which will assist in your choice. These are:

1. Have you a suitable location for your freezer? A position which is convenient, structurally sound, and accessible from outdoors. Too many times people have purchased freezers only to find there is not a door in the house through which they can be taken.

2. How large should it be? An allowance of 6 cubic feet per person is recommended by authorities.

3. Should it be upright or chest? The chest is less expensive to operate and is more suited to storing large quantities of bulky packages, but it has less quick freeze space, takes more floor area, and is harder to load and unload.

4. Is the construction good? The cabinet should be well insulated to keep the operating cost low and there should be an air tight seal to prevent heat and water vapour passage from the freezer. The hinges and latches should be sturdy and should be operating smoothly and efficiently.

5. Is there a guarantee and is service available? No freezer is a good buy if you cannot get service on it.

For further information on buying freezers and your copy of "Preserve by Freezing," contact me at the Westlock office.

If you are smart you sense the fact that you are often reading a blurb in the news and in the magazines.

Premier Suggests "Enforced" Markets For Canadian Crude

EDMONTON — Premier Manning of Alberta suggests that eastern refineries should be required to take a substantial supply of Canadian crude oil if they won't do so voluntarily.

He made the suggestion at a press conference called to stress the "necessity and urgency" of federal government action to provide a greater part of the Canadian oil market for Canadian production.

The premier supported the idea of an Edmonton - to - Montreal crude pipeline, as proposed before the Borden commission on Canada's energy resources in Toronto this week.

By 1965, he said, Canada's oil markets still will be absorbing less than half the country's productive capacity.

Even the most optimistic forecasts now add only five or six per cent to his 1965 forecast, the premier said. However, acquisition of the Montreal refining area for Canadian crude oil would boost this output 20 per cent.

The premier said he cited these figures in meetings at Ottawa last week with Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Trade Minister Churchill.

FAIL IN FIGHT AGAINST WORMS

LETHBRIDGE — Thousands of webworms infested gardens and lawns in northeast Lethbridge Wednesday and the combined efforts of the city's parks, recreation and health departments to stop the insects were futile.

Central Plant For Weeklies Is Promoted

CHICAGO — Establishment of a central printing trades plant in which 20 or more weekly newspapers could be printed and distributed was envisioned by Lucien File, Chester Herald-Tribune, at the spring meeting of the Illinois Press Association.

Mr. File said such a central plant is now virtually "in the blue print stage" for a group of Southern Illinois weekly papers. He predicted that contract printing may well be the answer to the two big questions confronting many weeklies: cutting operating costs and meeting the manpower shortage.

"We are now trying to find 20 farsighted publishers who will join in organizing a corporation valued at $400,000 to equip such a plant," he said.

"In the plant that I envisage the individual weekly will not lose its individuality and the editor will have complete control of individual makeup and headline styles."

He also told how publishers can get the money to buy stock in the central plant.

"We have a plan where by a man may set aside certain pieces of machinery in his present plant and give us a note secured by that machinery," he said. "For this note, he will receive stock in our plant. He does not have to sell the machinery or get rid of it until he is sure that the trades plant will work to his satisfaction, or if he merely wants to go into the plant for an investment he may do so and continue at his present method of printing his newspaper for we are certain we will have more business than we can take care of."
